We all should save money, but what good does it do? That’s the question Penny asks The Great Investo, the world’s worst money magician. When you save money in your local bank, is it just for yourself or does it help anyone else? To answer the question Investo calls on his old magic teacher, The Wizard of Wealth. Together they try to illustrate how it all works by conjuring up a money tree. As with most of Investo’s efforts, the results are less than successful, but always fun! Fortunately, Penny knows the real answer to what happens to a whole town when you save! The Great Investo and the Money Tree is an entertaining way to teach kids how saving money in your local banks helps the whole community!
