IN GEOGRAPHY AND HISTORY
Armchair journeys for the soul. Grandparents on safari and mountain climbing in Africa. Fun for adults and children to read together.

Bibi and Babu are Swahili names for Grandma and Grandpa. When grandparents Bonnie Toews and John Christiansen go to Central Africa, their tour guides fondly call them "Bibi" and "Babu." Their nicknames stick, and as they share their journeys in a series of armchair adventures to faraway lands, they introduce you to countries and people who live in different worlds from the one you know.

In BIBI & BABU IN AFRICA, the spirit of the land embraces them as Bibi and Babu walk among the Maasai tribe. Once believed to be head hunters, the Maasai live side by side with their cattle among the wild animals roaming Tanzania's grasslands and plains. Later, on safari, lions, giraffes, leopards, zebras, monkeys and elephants delight in posing for Babu's camera. He also takes you on his climb up Mount Kilimanjaro. At 77-years-old, Babu was the second oldest person to reach the top of the second tallest mountain in the world, but since then, an 86-year-old woman has broken all the men's records. This proves you are never too old to live your dream. Bibi, meanwhile, visits the Kilimanjaro Orphanage Centre. Lost, yet so innocent, the children reach out to her with love, faith and hope. When Babu finally joins her there, the children quickly steal his heart, and they will yours too.
